CAMOSUN
1964 - 1965

Significance: Camosun, from the Songhee Indian language, is a familiar word, meaning camus, the blue lily. The Indians gave this name to the Gorge, and Camosun Bay was the place where Sir James Douglas first landed on Vancouver Island. Fort Camosun was also Victoria's first name, but this was changed to Fort Victoria in 1843.

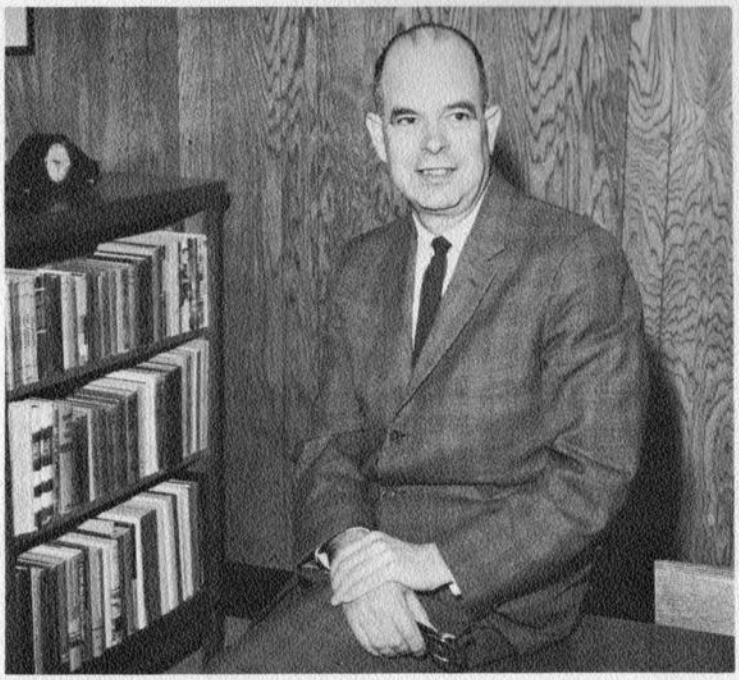
FOREWORD



Secondary education has two main objectives—one cultural and the other practical. Cultural education prepares people for living, while practical education prepares people for making a living. Both are important.

Life is more satisfying for the person who has wide knowledge and interests, cultivated tastes, good judgment, and mental vigour. Broad general knowledge, appreciation of the arts, and love of beauty, are a constant source of joy and an unfailing source of comfort and help in times of distress. The primary purpose of secondary education is, and will continue to be, the cultural development of each student to the limit of his capacity.

Important as cultural education is, or may be, practical education has great importance. People must be educated or trained to earn a living. There is, therefore, considerable overlapping between cultural and practical education. English, for example is possibly the most practical subject on the curriculum, but, at the same time, it is most cultural. Nevertheless, the term practical education implies subjects such as medicine or engineering at the university level, or such subjects as typing and shorthand, or electronics and auto mechanics, at the secondary school level, as these subjects prepare one for immediate employment.

With this in mind, much thought has been given to the educational pattern students are presently following, or have followed in the years they spend in a secondary school such as ours. To those of you who will be continuing in Victoria Secondary School, and to those who will be in the Graduating Class of 1965, it has been our earnest hope that your education has served to develop the knowledge, interests, ideals, habits, and powers, whereby you will find your place in life and use that place to shape both yourself and society toward even nobler and greater ends.

COUNCIL'S MESSAGE

George Bernard Shaw said "Childhood is too precious a thing to waste on children." Truly our precious years have passed; many of us are going out into the busines world, or going on to obtain a higher education, and we should begin to realize what has passed us by. In school, we have had the leadership of the faculty and the companionship of friends, but now we are independent. Now there is no one to "hold our hand". Are you ready?

Our futures have been moulded carefully and skilfully by teachers from elementary to high school, and every acquaintance or incident has helped to prepare us for the change which is to come.

When I recall all the people I have been fortunate to know, and when I think how lucky I have been to attend Vic High, I suddenly stop and wonder about those who have been less fortunate. Victoria Secondary School was, and always will be, the best school on the Island, and the words "I graduated from Vic High" will continue to open many doors.

When I speculate about life outside of the protection of School, I am reminded of Burns' lines:

". . . and foreward tho' I canna see,
I doubt and fear."

Never again will we feel so at home, never again will friendship come so easily, and never again will we be given so many second chances. We will be on our own, but we have, as a standard, the envy of playwright Shaw, the priceless advantage of youth.

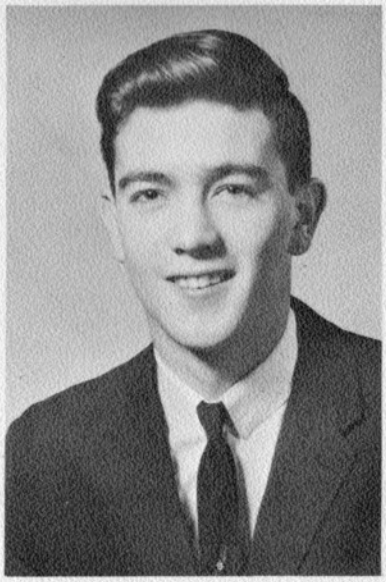
VALEDICTORY



Tom McKeachie
Valedictorian

The class of '65 is the largest yet to ever graduate from Vic High. Perhaps this is evidence of the rising standard of education today. We are also the first to graduate under the new Maple Leaf flag. I believe that this change is symbolic of the modern world in which we are now becoming an important part. As we young adults take our next stations in life, it will be our basic training and formal education that determines our effectiveness as world citizens. In the future when these people read the "old" Vic High annual of '65, they will truly appreciate and cherish the memories of "school life".

It is my hope that everyone in this year's grad class be permitted to fulfil all the desires and aspirations which they now maintain and always live with the enthusiasm that is a Vic High tradition.

CARPENTRY

Called the "nail benders" by the rude and ignorant, the Vocational 30 and 91 Carpentry boys are taught by Mr. Runer, who is the only instructor in these classes. Since being selected for Carpentry in grade 10, the class has been constructing houses under contract. This year the second of two houses is being completed for the Salvation Army. As well as the back-breaking work, framing, sheeting, and insulating, some of the students receive experience in cabinet making. The class is also instructed in surveying by Mr. Runer.

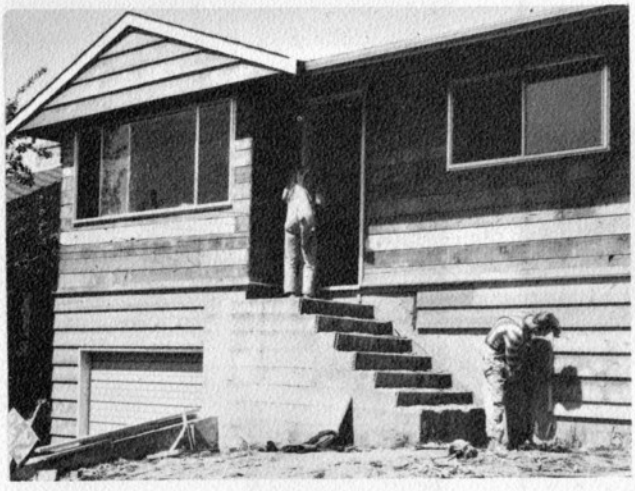
Members of the class are:

Voc. 30:
- Wayne Grimm
- Dave Perry
- Dan Lees
- Scott McBride
- Ron Green
- Mike Kelly
- Norm King
- Jan Larsen
- Mel Nelson

Voc. 91:
- Ken Gibson
- Dallas Miller
- Sid Turnbull
- Clint Hollefreund

SHEET METAL

Under the supervision of Mr. Gower, the shop does a great variety of work. The shop has a wide range in equipment, but there is still room for expansion, especially in the machinery department. When the weather begins to get warmer, the crew of grades 11 and 12 install and make ready to operate a furnace capable of heating the house built by the carpentry shop.



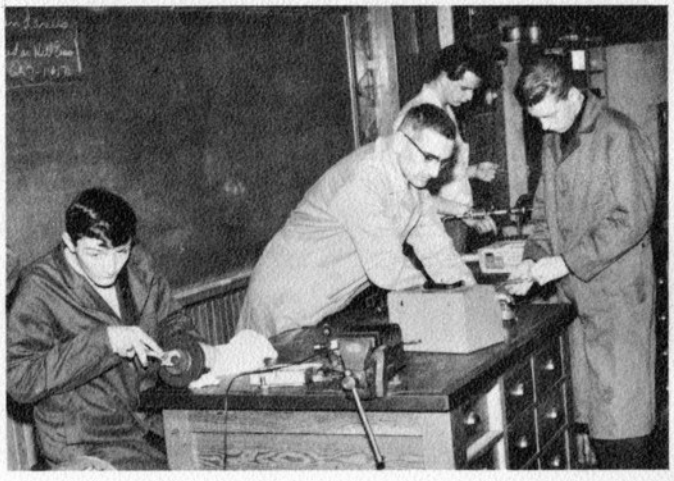
Carpentry students apply finishing touches to house built for Salvation Army on Tattersal Drive.

AUTOMOTIVE SHOP

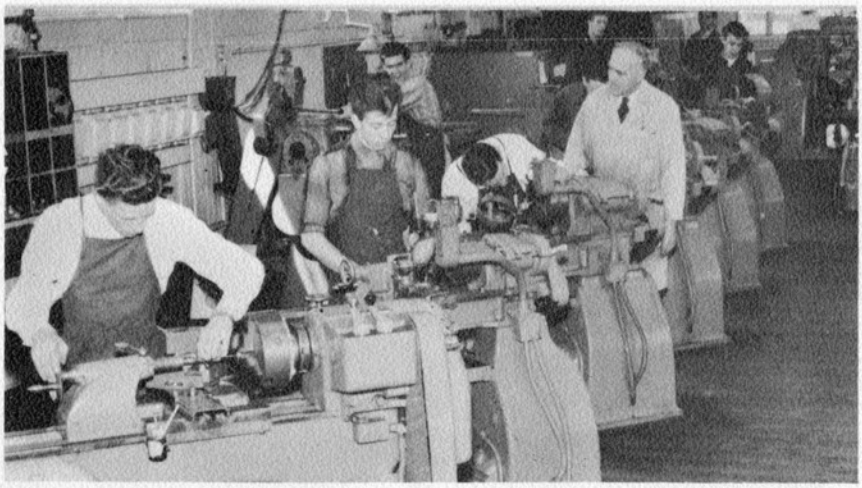
The Automotive Shop, under the supervision of Mr. Hill and Mr. Brittain, has completed another successful year of theoretical and practical work. Their work involved repairing several types of automobiles and using all the instruments and tools to be encountered in the trade after graduation.

ELECTRICAL SHOP

Wiring, electric motors, and generators are some of the projects undertaken in the electrical shop under the direction of Mr. A. Paone. In Grade 10, the students are introduced to wiring and repairing of single-phase motors (the type used in your mother's washing machine). The grade 11 course is different; the work is mainly with generators, single-phase motors and house-hold appliances. The grade 12 work gets progressively harder; however, their main practice in the shop is with armatures (e.g., saws, vacuum cleaners' motors, etc.). The group as a whole (grade elevens and twelves), under direction, are given responsibility of wiring a house which is built by the school for the Salvation Army each year.



ELECTRONICS



MACHINE SHOP

In the Machine Shop, Mr. Hansan teaches the Vocational and Technical students and Mr. Regan, the Industrial Art students. The Vocational and Technical courses offer a basic grounding in Machine Shop theory and practise. The tools and techniques of fundamental metal working are studied in the I.A. courses.

CIRCUS

THIS year's circus, on February 5th was both a "show-biz" and financial success. $3,700 was cleared, and approximately $2,000 of this was from ticket sales, where individual totals went over $50. The more successful stalls were books, home cooking, pop stand, variety, novelty, jewelry, and games. The art display was a big hit as were the new attractions: such as Div. Two's "Coffee House", the Philosophy Club's "Ask the Hand", and "Muffin Maid".

1964-1965 PREFECTS

Sponsored by Mr. Lorimer, the Prefects undertook to maintain law and order in the upper halls between 12:40 and 1:05 each noon hour of the school year. Their service to the school cannot be under-estimated, for it was appreciated by the staff and students alike.

Standing: Gordie Tupper, Jack Bell, Noreen Arnold, Glenice Bentley, Martin Hagarty.
Seated: John Phillips, Dave Day.

THE CAMOSUNET

This year under the successive management of editors Martin Hagarty (issues 1-3), John Phillips (issues 4 and 5), and Dave Day (issue 6), six issues (two more than last year) of the school newspaper, The Camosunet, were published.

An entirely new method was used—the paper was almost completely put together in the school. Typing was done in the commercial office, photographs were mostly taken by Tom McNie and Mr. St. Clair, articles were written by our students and the Journalism Class, and pasteups were arranged by the editors.

INTER-SCHOOL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

"To know Christ and to make Him known."

Lively quizzes, quiet discussions, guest speakers, and music highlighted many of this year's I.S.C.F. meetings. Guest speakers have included such notable figures as last year's school president, Brian White, and his eternally smiling buddy, John A. Anderson. Perhaps the most well-received meeting of the year was the teachers' panel discussion. As the four teachers expressed their own opinions on the various questions submitted by students, much controversy and good discussion were aroused.

UNITED NATIONS CLUB

Have you ever heard strange noises creeping through the walls of room 305 on Wednesday noons? If so, it was probably the Vic High U.N. Club debating (?) or battling under the co-sponsorship of Mr. Stark and Mr. Langille. The president, Stein Gudmundseth, has led the large and spirited group in discussions on such outstanding subjects as: "Admission of Communist China to the U.N." and "The Expulsion of the Byelorussian S.S.R. and the Ukrainian S.S.R. from the United Nations". Earlier this year, the U.N. Club endeavored to break previous records in the sale of UNICEF Christmas cards; the record breaking total of $403.50 surpassed all expectations. In the latter part of the year, parliamentary procedure was introduced as an experiment (to the relief of the "genteel" ladies and secretary, Elizabeth Newton).

THESPIANS

Thespians are a nucleus of honorary dramatic students who have done a tremendous amount of work in extra-curricular activities. All were involved in "The Mouse That Roared" and in the school's Drama Festival productions, which were so successful.

CALAMITY PLAYERS

Mr. Mayne's "Calamities", the S.P.C.A. (Society for the Production of Corn in Assemblies) pooled their intellect (?) and came up with "Dragnet" (a skit to promote the Circus), the Frankenstein Frolics (promoting Booster Pass sales) and the mesmerizing Spring Serenade Promotion Skit. The "executors" of the clubs are: Tom McKeachie, president; Stein Gudmundseth, vice-president; and Martin Hagarty, secretary.

Charles Barber, Bob Campbell, Steve Mortimer.

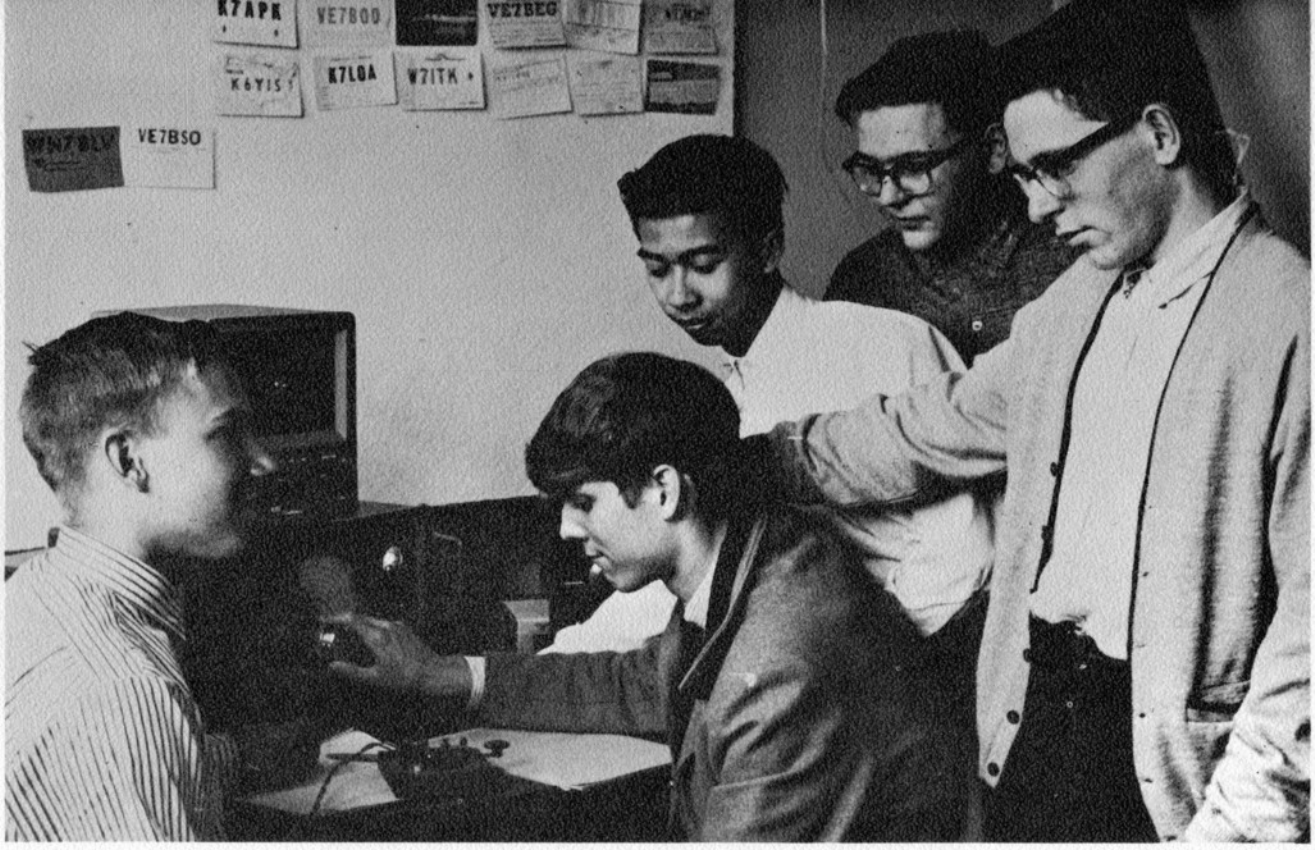
CREATIVE ARTS CLUB

The devoted, dedicated Creative Arts Club membership did the painting of the scenery for the "Mouse That Roared" and the two plays for the Drama Festival. Mr. Robb, their fearless leader, led these intrepid citizens through thick and thin, paint and wood.

Ann Weed, Christina Schuler, Jacques Carriou, Miss MacQueen.

FRENCH CLUB

French skits, plays and games have highlighted the year's activities for the members of the French Club, and, as a result, members have developed a deep interest in the French language and customs. Besides that already mentioned, the Club helps deserving students obtain further aid in their studies of French. A Candy Sale was organized by the Club and the money earned will provide two scholarships to attend the "Maison Francaise" at the University of Victoria. The Club's sponsor is Miss MacQueen.



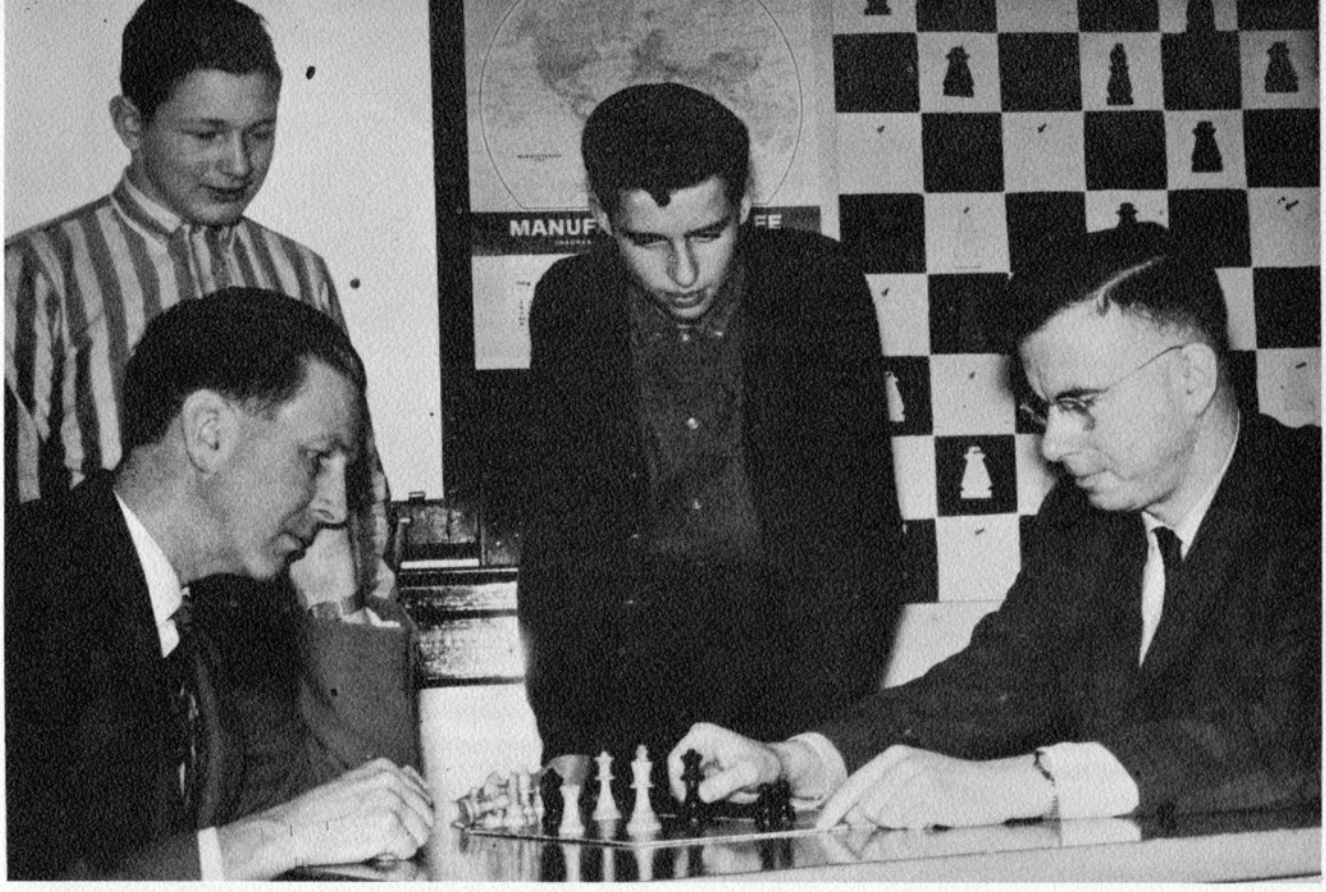
Mike Woodward, Bruce Tobin, Edan Shong, Pat Geary, Bodo deLang Boom.

RADIO CLUB VE7AAG

The Victoria High Radio Club has enjoyed a really prosperous season this year, the highlight being the purchase of a new communications receiver. Although the membership is slightly diminished from last year's, the Club's spirit has been good. Many activities such as code and theory classes and on-the-air meetings, where "hams" all over the northwest of the United States and Canada were contacted, were included in this year's program. The club has five licensed members, including the hardworking sponsor, Mr. R. T. Stark.

CREATIVE LITERARY CLUB

This was the first year of life for the Creative Literary Club, which was initiated and chaired by Stein Gudmundseth. Mr. Hardie, the sponsor, established himself as an uninterfering but constant source of inspiration. During the course of several months, the members controlled their tempers remarkably well; many lively discussions took place dealing with original creations as well as those of the Masters. The group listened to brilliant lectures by Dave Summers, who enthusiastically waged war on maudlin cliche, philosophy, and English 40. Catherine Rochon was the secretary.



John Christie, Mr. Preston, Andrew Lloyd, Mr. Chell.

CHESS CLUB

Every noon hour enthusiastic games of chess have been played in room 312. Mr. Chell and Mr. Preston sponsored the Chess Club this year and the executive consisted of Ken Beattie, president; Connie Barloewen, vice-president; and Verena Jacksteit, secretary-treasurer. Two representatives, Wayne Humphrey and Charles Lee, were sent to the B.C. Chess Tournament at Richmond this year.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

Under the "wretched" presidency of Charles Barber, the "demented" vice-presidency of practically everyone, the official sponsorship of Mr. Robb, and the excellent leadership of Mr. Bloomfield, this club has held violent, emotional and, of course, philosophical discussions on socialism, meditation, religion, morals and a never-ending search for self-truth. The pu pose of the Club is to create an intense knowledge of oneself, for by this all else can be learned. The central idea is best summed up in the Philosophy Club's motto: Cogito Ergo Sum, "I think; therefore I am".

Standing: Sue Price, Mrs. Seens, Linda Wedman, Sandi Johnston, Sue Laubenstein, Nancy Munn, Marilyn Jacques, Mary Hamilton.

Seated: Karen Greig, Margo Akins.

Y-TEENS

The Victoria Secondary School Y-Teens have met the challenge of this busy year. Every member participated in the successful bag drive, cake sale and car wash. The unfortunate H-Ys humbly met defeat at the hands of the capable Y-Teens in the Colonist "500" fund Penny Drive. Y-Teens' happy faces could be seen at all school functions, where they provided ushering and many other services which contributed towards the great success of the school year.

ALPHA PRODUCTIONS

Starring: "Almighty Alpha."

A TRAGEDY IN ONE ACT

Gordie Tupper (padre), Dave Hayward (vice-president), Mr. Fell (sponsor), Brian Whitmore (president), Frank Parker (secretary).

Producer (Brian): Well, I guess that winds up another season. How was our rating?

Director (Dave): Just great! especially our highly successful sweatshirt sales . . .

Script Writer (Frank): And don't forget our Hallowe'en, Christmas, and Spring dances, all successes!

Director: Then there's the help we gave at the Teachers' Convention, to the Colonist "500" drive, and to Goodwill. We raised lots of money with our bottle drives and car washes.

Sponsor (Mr. Fell): Yes, but what did we do with all that money?

Director: Well, part of it went to the Archie McKinnen and World Service Funds, and some went towards the trophies we present . . .

Script Writer: That's enough! We must be broke!?

Theological Advisor (Gordie): I knew I was here for something. I'll take a collection!

FINIS

Standing: John Phillips (vice-president), Tom McNie (treasurer), Martin Hagarty (secretary), Doug Bainbridge (sergeant-at-arms).
Seated: Mr. Smyth (sponsor), Derek Reimer (president).

BETA HI-Y

Beta, the "betta" Hi-Y, has participated in many worthwhile activities during the past school year. As a service to the school, the club sold pop at many of the dances and basketball games and has helped in the clean-up crews. Other activties included bottle drives, pom-pom bow sales and the recording for the Intermural and Extramural Point Systems. Their capable sponsor, Mr. Smyth, has provided the excellent guidance and direction which have carried the club through the past school year.

Gerry Vaughn (treasurer), Mr. Vernon (sponsor), Malcolm Ashford (president), Bob Packford (secretary), Merle Schwandt (vice-president).

GAMMA HI-Y

Gamma ("the greatest") has concluded another tremendously successful year under the capable guidance of Mr. Vernon. The Club, with its nineteen active members, has taken part in many functions, both in school and out of school. In 1964, Gamma participated in the fund-raising drive for the Colonist "500" and in the Goodwill Bag Drive. Later in the school year, the active "Gamwickians" held a bottle drive and two car washes, one of which was to aid the Freedom From Hunger Campaign. These activities and the many other accomplishments proved to make this past year one of the most successful for the group.

Standing: Jane McKeachie (president).
Seated: Julie Goodwin, Lynne Johnstone, Joan Scythes, Mr. Smith, Wendy Glover.

FUTURE TEACHERS' CLUB

Thirty-four prospective teachers formed 1964-1965's edition of the Future Teachers' Club. The Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. D. E. Smith, has listened to speakers from various levels of the education field and has visited elementary and junior secondary high schools. President Jane McKeachie and Vice-President Anne Kemp attended a conference at U.B.C. last January, to which representatives from Future Teachers' Clubs all over the Province were sent. The main event of the year was the grand conference held at UVIC last May. Attending were most members of the Future Teachers' Clubs in Greater Victoria.

Mrs. Barker, Karen Gung, Carol Hillyer (president), Maureen Gilchrist, Anne Kemp, Marg Knight, April MacLeod.

RED CROSS

Sponsored by Mrs. Barker, the Red Cross Club has participated in many of this year's Inter-High Red Cross Council activities. Several of the members assisted at the St. Joseph's Hospital as "Volunteens". The Group visited the Chinese hospital during Christmas and Easter and contributed to the Malayasian Project. This summer a few of the members will be attending a study centre to be held at U.B.C.

FUTURE NURSES' CLUB

The main purpose of the Future Nurses' Club is to acquaint its members with an understanding of what nursing is and with what the requirements for entering a Nursing School are. Mr. Martin and Mrs. Fieldwalker, the sponsors, co-ordinated the Group's activities along with the executive. Two months were devoted to the study of retarded children: interesting films were shown and a field trip was taken to the Elford Street Occupational Centre for mentally retarded young adults. A fascinating film, revealing all aspects of hospital activity, and three guest speakers presented the members with some first-hand knowledge of what working in a hospital is really life.

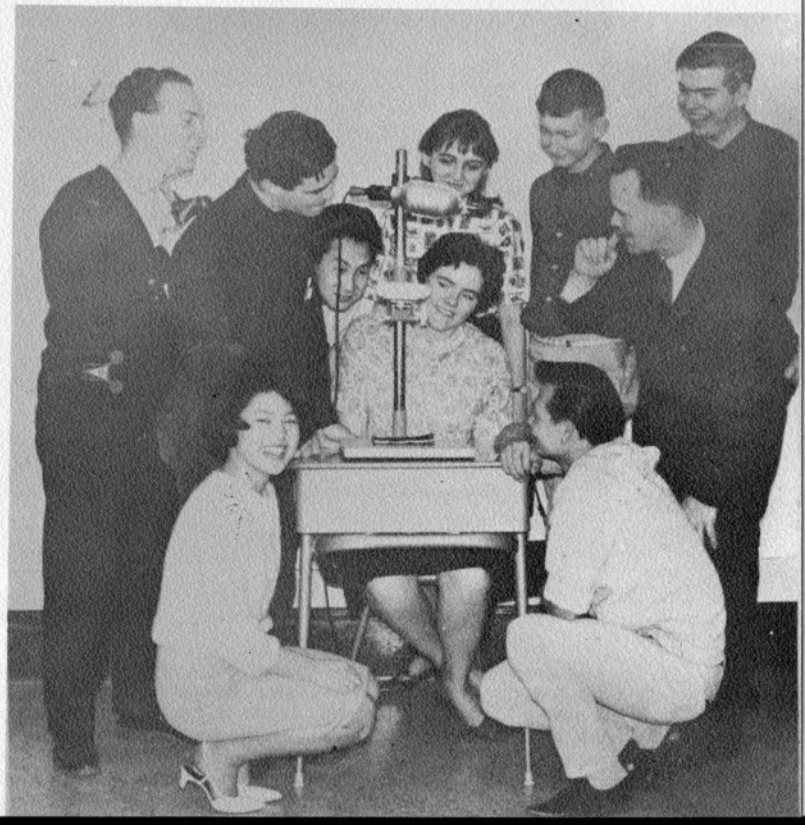
Standing: Denise Won, Pam Olds, Jane Lee, Mrs. Martin.
Seated: Judy Pogson (president).

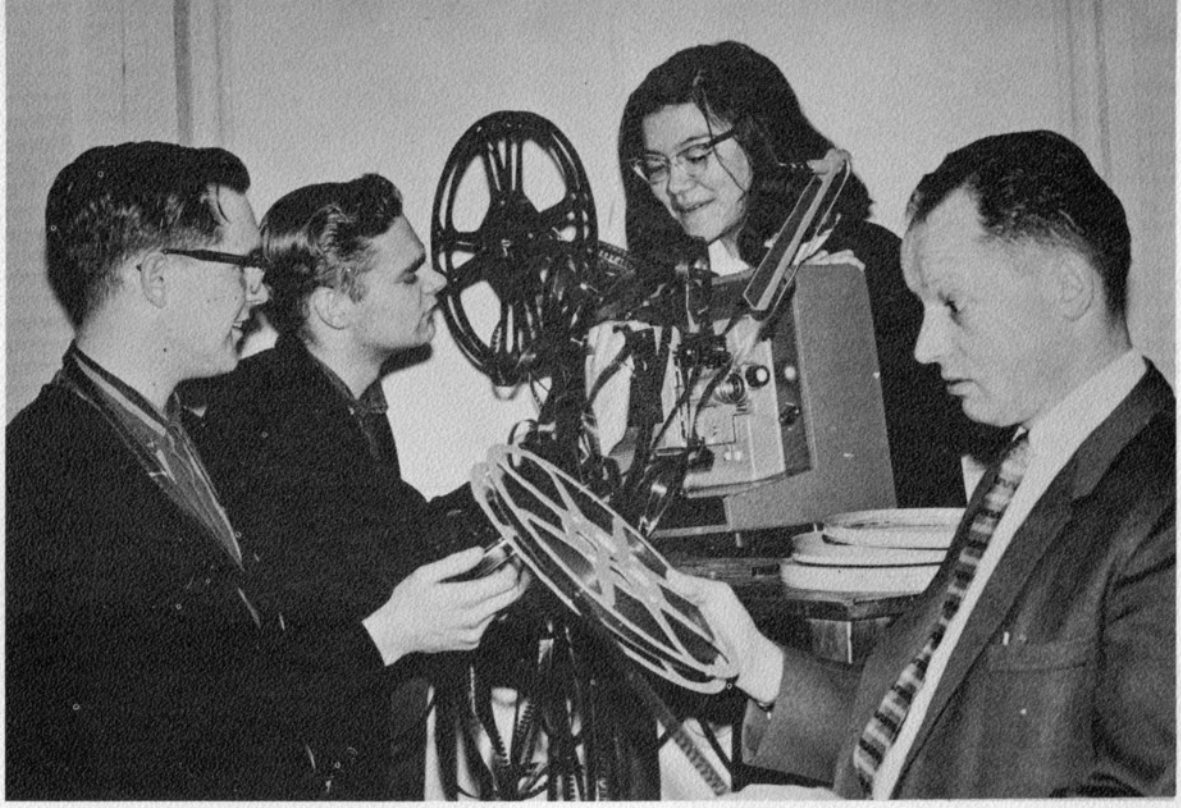
ART SCHOLARSHIP CLUB

While many students worked furiously to finish their "masterpieces", the sponsor, Mrs. Cameron, ventured into the dark realms of 217's storeroom to gather the paintings, serigraphs, woodcuts, and scratchboards for sale at special school functions. The front hall was decorated with these works of art, while the executive and members approached teachers, parents and innocent bystanders. This year the Art Scholarship Club undertook the raising of $1000, which is to be used for yearly $50 bursaries for deserving art students. Through these art sales the members had great success in attaining their goal.

CAMERA CLUB

The newly organized Camera Club, under the direction of Mr. St. Clair, took many of the Club and Activities photographs for the Camosun. Their cameras were poised and ready to catch that spark at the V.S.S. Circus, school dances, and sports events. The members are "finding their way around in the dark" in room 220 where techniques in developing and enlarging were learned and then ultilized in printing many of the fine photographs appearing in this year's annual.





Greg Potter (president), Bert De Vries, June Seto, Mr. Fell.

PROJECTIONIST CLUB

Yes, another emergency call for the Projectionists! Besides handling equipment for track meets, Music Appreciation, the "Reach for the Top" teams, Y-Teens, sock hops, school dances, films and Assemblies, the Projectionist Club receives an occational plea for help, such as the once shown above.

There's a broken film somewhere,
The stage is short a mike,
And the Sock-Hop needs some music,
Has the whole Club gone on strike??
PROjectionISTS! Where are you?

Jack Chan, Mr. Ashwell, Norm Papick, Jim Leong, Bill Campbell, Rene Olson, Elizabeth Newton, Marlene Roberg, Bob Whitmore.

SCIENCE CLUB

Under the benevolent guidance of Mr. Ashwell, the Science Club has managed not to do many things: a fact for which the school should be grateful. What it has done has earned for it a notoriety that will cling to the memories of the industries and research centres of this fair city for many years to come. The first "invasion" took place in October when the future Einsteins visited the Pathology lab of the Royal Jubilee Hospital; the group found the place fascinating, especially the morgue! Since that first excursion, it has become progressively difficult to find places tolerant enough to accept the energetic group. The year was terminated with a visit to the unsuspecting Undersea Gardens—BLUB . . blub . . blub . .

ARCHIVES

Under the capable eyes of Miss Douglas, the Archives sort out all the old pictures of previous years in Vic High's history. Many a memory and laugh were produced by the enlightening display presented in the main hall. The girls are now spending long and tedious hours sorting and filing the pictures in readiness for their final task of mounting them in the fabulous V.H.S. Scrap Book. The role of the Archives does not end this month—when September rolls around, the club will again be working on "ye olde scrap book"!

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Club has been short on formal meetings but long on work. Space reorganization and relettering on spines complemented the routine of daily chores such as circulation and shelving of books. The exciting kaleidoscopic variety of novels and biographies which were processed, and the seasonal frustration of the pressures of book arrivals and displays punctuated most daily chores.

MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB

More music lovers than ever have been assembling Thursday noons to hear, to appreciate, and to discuss good music of universal interest. This magic world was explored with selections from Dave Brubeck's "Time Changes"; Dvorak's "New World Symphony"; and Bizet's "Carmen' to countless others. Mr. Roberts, their sponsor, arranged for some of the more enthusiastic members to attend a rare personal appearance of the great Russian pianist, Richter. This electrifying performance proved to be the highlight of the year.

CAFETERIA STAFF

These lovelies make the noon hour all the more enjoyable for Vic High's hungry students. Their smiling faces enhance the soup and sandwiches which they offer for sale. As they try to serve that ever surging line they no doubt question whether their services are appreciated. They are!

TYPING CLUB

The newly formed Typing Club consists of six dedicated typists, who for one or two weeks every two months "tap . . . tap . . . tap" away the afternoons, only unhinging their fingers from the keys at about 5:30 the day the Camosunet proof is ready. Unfortunately Miss Sutton, their sponsor, and one of the faithful six, Ann Marie Oberg, are missing from the photograph.

STAGE CREW

This hardworking group is at it again. "The Mouse That Roared", "Fools' Errand", "The Witching Hour", the Circus Variety Show, the two "Hoots", the Calamity Players' Skits, the Fashion Show, and the dances have all witnessed the group's touch, which included over 500 hours of teamwork and devotion. These "unsung heroes of the backstage" won special commendation from the adjudicator, Mr. Carl Hare, at this year's Drama Festival.

BAND

The Victoria Secondary School Band, under the baton of Mr. Sample, participated in a concert last January with the Greater Victoria Schools' Symphony Orchestra. In March, the Band held a profitable car wash, and then later supported the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in their annual boutonniere sale. The highlights of the year were the band's excursion to Clinton, B.C., via Vancouver and Harrison Hot Springs, and the great success in the Victoria Music Festival. Russ Ko (president), Gordie Munn (vice-president), and Lynda Wallace (secretary) formed the devoted executive who contributed much to the Band's success.

MIXED CHOIR

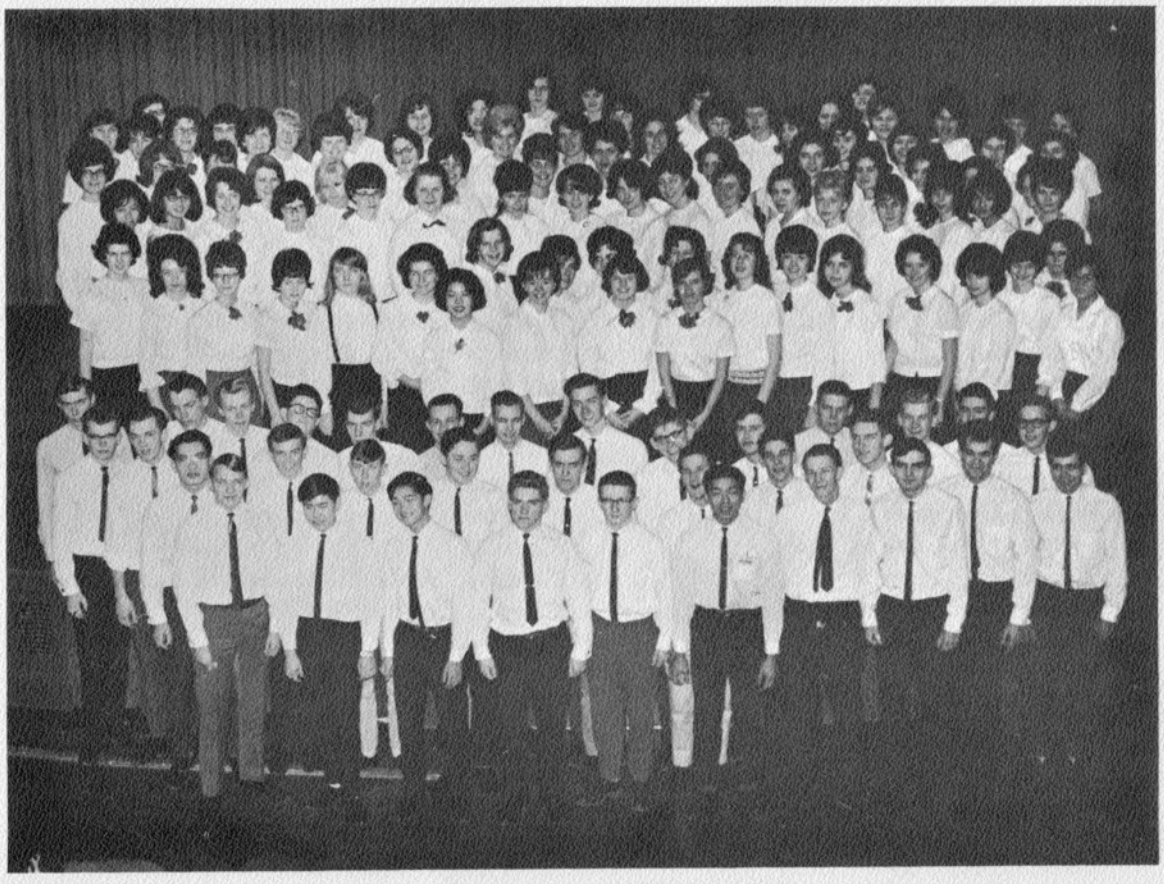
The Mixed Choir, the nucleus of all the choirs in the school, was kept very busy with Music Festivals this year as they took part, not only in the Victoria Music Festival, but in the Vancouver Festival as well. In the Spring, the Choir sang at the Fashion Show, where they provided a delightful evening of entertainment. The hours of expert leadership by Miss Douglas has been greatly appreciated throughout the year.

GIRLS' CHOIR

The twenty-five-member Girls' Choir has had a very successful year. They joined in with the Grad Choir to sing in Assemblies and, in May, travelled to the Mainland for the Vancouver Music Festival. The high standards displayed there and in the Victoria Music Festival were the direct result of the expert training and instruction by Miss Douglas.

STAGE BAND

Directed by Mr. Sample and supported by enthusiastic band members, the two-year-old Stage Band appeared in morning assemblies and in the Variety Show at the Circus. Special thanks should be extended to Mr. Gough, who acted as substitute director on several occasions. The successes this year will certainly inspire even more varied activities in the future.



GRAD CHOIR

This year, the Grad Choir celebrated its twenty-second birthday. Approximately one hundred and fifty members, with the girls slightly outnumbering the boys, sang a group of popular songs which were greatly received at the morning assemblies last fall. In April, the Choir again got together, this time to sing the rollicking "Policeman's Chorus" from the Gilbert and Sullivan light opera, "The Pirates of Penzance" This selection was enjoyed by the school and performers alike. The final presentation, at the Recognition Ceremony in June, was received with equal praise.

ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. De Long, has had a very successful year. As well as providing entertainment at concerts and assemblies, the Orchestra provided a pleasant pastime for its participants. It has formed the nucleus of the Greater Victoria Schools' Symphony Orchestra, which recently carried the melodious tones of Brahms, Mendelssohn, and Holst to the festivals at Calgary and Lethbridge. In addition, the annual entries in the Victoria Music Festival have brought them notable acclamation. The Orchestra has certainly done its part in bringing good quality music into the school curriculum.

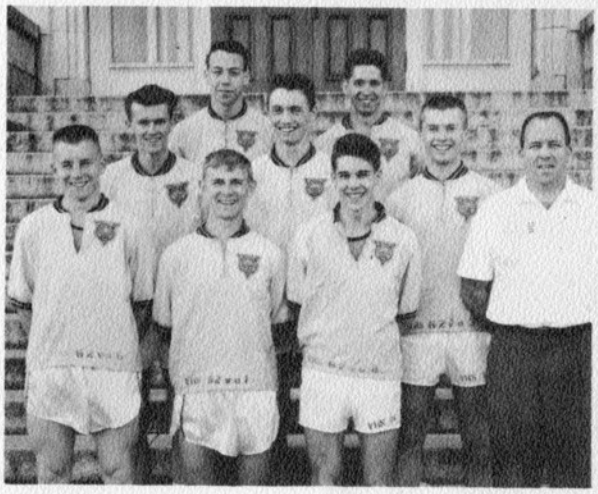
SPORTS

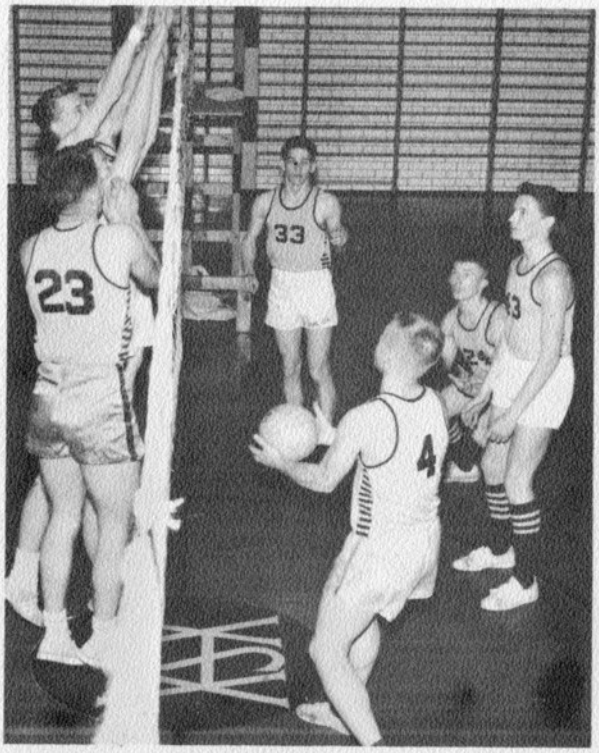
TOTEMS

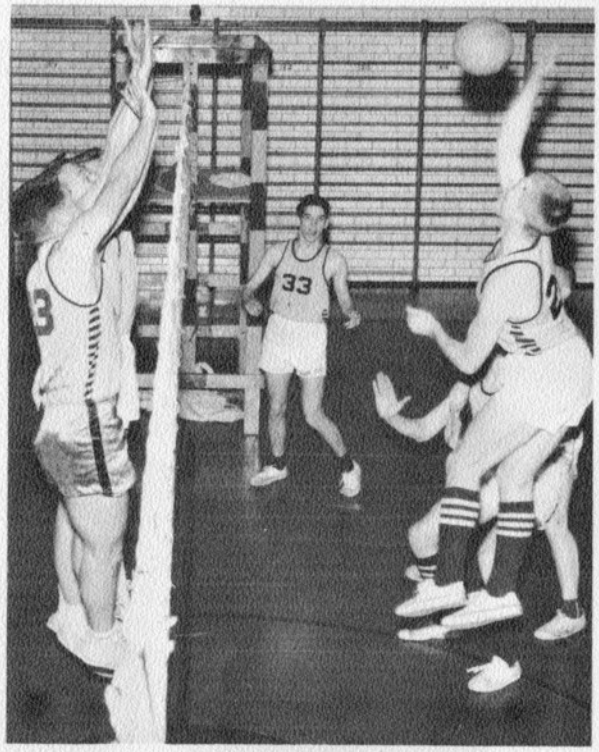
A practically brand-new team under a new coach this year, the Totems surprised all the experts by reaching the B.C. Tournament at U.B.C., where they received very valuable experience. Mr. Garner's boys tied for second place in the regular Day League, but received sole possession of this position by defeating Mt. View in a deciding game. Losing only 1 game to Esquimalt, the Vic's wound up in third place in the Lower Island Tournament, thus winning the right to proceed to the Island Tournament where they defeated Esquimalt in an extremely exciting game for the third and last B.C. playoff position. In Vancouver the Totems were eliminated in 2 straight games; however, both contests were decided in the final moments and could easily have gone either way. Two team members were named to the Vancouver Island All-Star Teams—Olli Moilanen to the first, and Al Glover to the second.

BOYS' VOLLEYBALL



The school's most successful team by far, the Sasquatches have had a winning year. They started the season off on a good note by winning the Island Trophy at a tourney at UVIC Invitational "B" Tournament at Vic High. Following countless morning practices at UVIC and VHS, the Sasquatches finally achieved their goal in the year's final competition—the B.C. Championships. They failed to lose a match and won the B.C. by defeating Maple Ridge in the final. Vic High dominated the All-Star team, placing Derek Reimer, Jim Vosburgh and John Philips on the 1st team and Tom McNie on the 2nd. Derek Reimer received the Most Valuable Player and Outstanding Setter Awards at this tournament.





ATHLETIC COMMITTEE

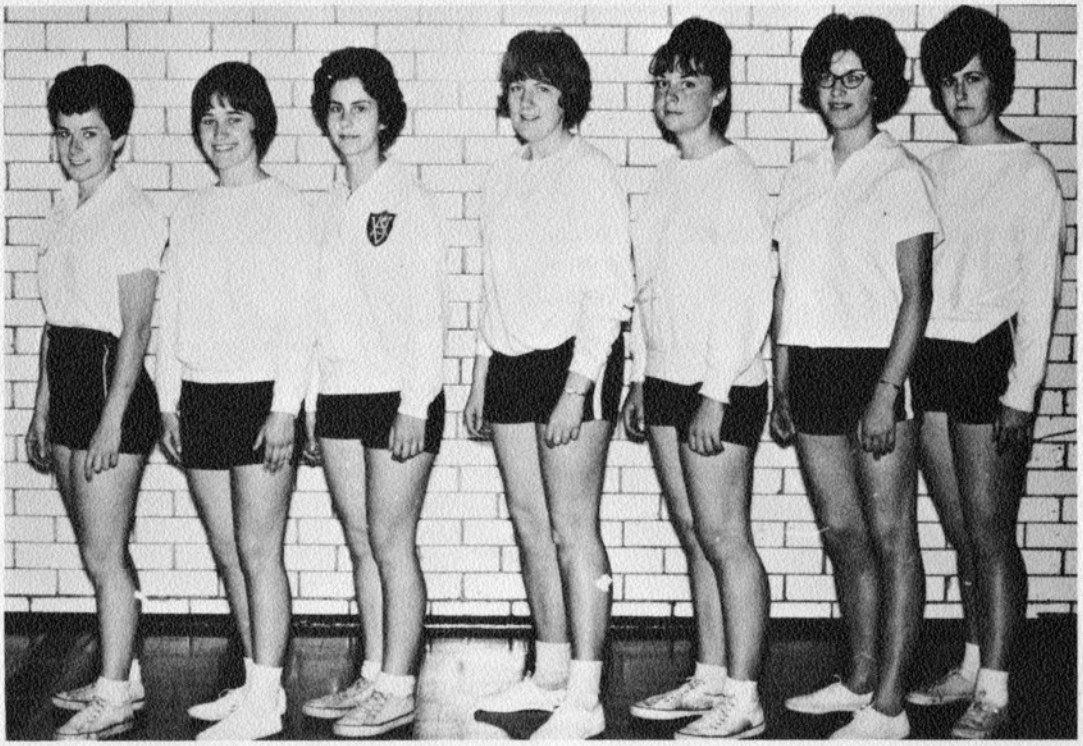
This dedicated group of House Captains and Vice-Captains, sponsored by Mr. Price, had a busy year scheduling and coordinating the school's inter-house system. This year's Committee again sponsored a successful pitch-and-putt tournament and staged the annual indoor track meet, as well as a pep meet, prior to the Inter-House track meet. John Philips was president, Doug Bainbridge, vice-president, and Marg Maysmith, secretary of the Committee.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS

This highly regimented organization is famous for its speedy, cheerful service. Members spent long hours toiling in the invigorating atmosphere of the equipment room. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Price, these dedicated servants worked hard distributing athletic equipment and uniforms, demanding the return of the same, fining deliquents, yes, and occasionally washing these uniforms. Dave Summers was the chief manager whose every utterance was irrevocable law, with Pete James being his obsequious assistant.

GIRLS REP VOLLEYBALL

Our senior volleyball team, usually seen playing against the boys, had a very busy and successful year. The eight girls, with the excellent help of their busy coach, Mr. Smyth, started the season by winning the Island Championship. From there they travelled to Vancouver for the B.C. and Western Canadian Championships, just losing both by a few points. Under their hard-working coach, the team completely dominated the Inter-High League and easily won the City Championship, going undefeated against all opponents before ending the volleyball season.



GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL B TEAM

Although formed late this year and lacking a chance for formal practice, the B's had a fine season, winning all of their games handily and capturing the B League Championship. The girls acted as a back-up squad for the A team and upheld Vic High's reputation as being the leading high school for volleyball in the province. Much credit should be given to their popular and able coach, Mr. Smyth.

TYEES

After a shaky start in league play, and a player re-shuffle, the Tyees gained momentum as the season progressed, finishing in second place. The Tyees faced an uphill battle all season, but seemed to turn in their best efforts in the most important games. Coached by Mr. Price, the Vics played 3 games under the lights at Royal Athletic Park, all against Oak Bay. The finest game of the season was the second of these matches, a 2-2 tie with the Oaks. The powerful Oak Bay team had less trouble with the Vics in the Colonist Cup final, defeating the Tyees 2-0, thus ending the season.

THE BADMINTON CLUB

The Badminton Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Andersen and Mr. Pluym, has enjoyed an active year. The Rep. team participated in two rounds of inter-high competition, and, although it did not successfully defend the Cup, it gave a good account of itself.

In the Inter-High Tournament, which was held at the Racquet Club and sponsored by our club, Margaret Maysmith was the winner of the Girls' Singles.

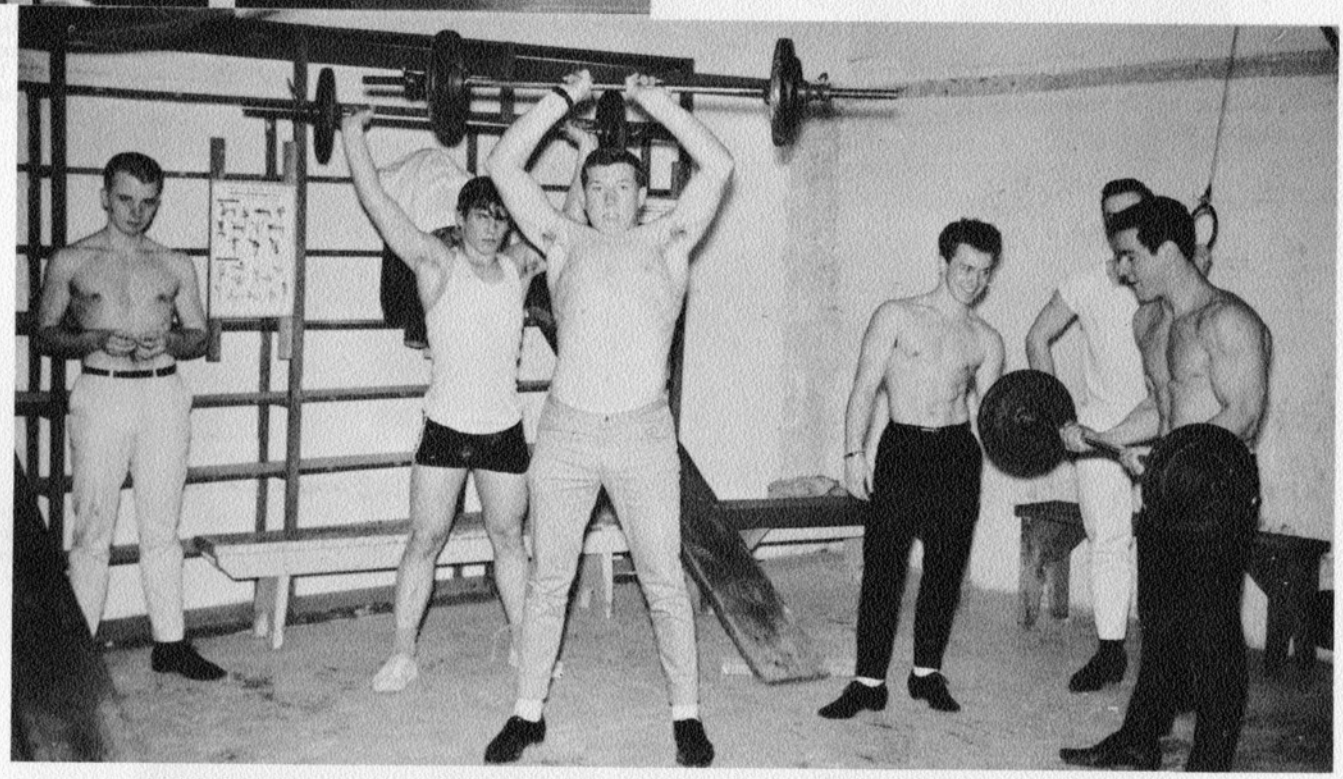
Dave Anderson, Wayne Humphreys, Roy Scott, Brad Restall, Ken Bartesko, Rick Williams, Connie Barloewen and Karen Mackenzie, all members of this year's team, will be back in the fall to form a strong contingent to challenge Oak Bay, present holders of the Inter-High Trophy.

CURLING CLUB

This year the Victoria High Curling Club, sponsored in the school by Mr. D. E. Smith, was organized by the Victoria Curling Club. There were 64 members in the club, making up 16 rings, which curled after school on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays in inter-school competition. During the year there were two major bonspiels in which Vic High competed. At the Christmas bonspiel in Vancouver, Harry Morgan's rink placed third in inter-pronvincial competition. In the provincial playoffs, however, there were not as fortunate, losing to Esquimalt in the Lower Island Zone and failing to reach the final.

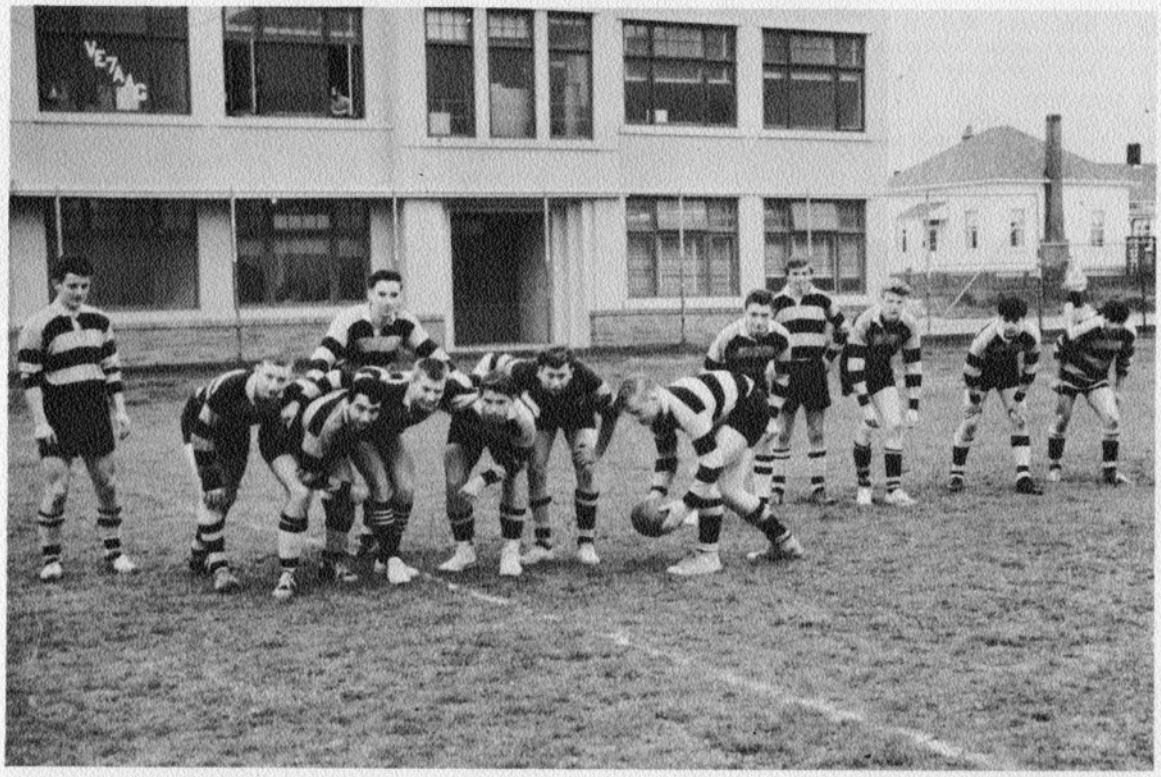
TIMERS AND SCORERS

Under the sponsorship of Miss Ruckle, the members of the Timers and Scorers Club have been busy this year scoring all basketball home games, inter-house basketball and volleyball, and inter-house and inter-school track meets. In addition to this, they were also in attendance at the Staff-Student basketball game and the Free Throw Contest. Since most of the members this year were Grade 12 students, it was necessary to train a few Grade 11's, Linda Leonard, Phyllis Edwards and Laurie Cullingford. The other members were Hanne Poulsen, Francis Ireland, Joan Chapman, June Pritchard and Margo Akins.



BODY BUILDING CLUB

Although suffering from a lack of members and a lack of enthusiasm, the regular members of the club have derived a great deal of benefit from their perseverance and hard work this year. Along with staff sponsor, Mr. Runer, these dedicated few curled and pressed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday in the weight-lifting room adjacent to the boys' change room. Next year's club will endeavour to enlist more support by introducing club crests, membership cards, and organized competition between members. The executive consisted on one student only—Lance Vrebosch, who acted as president and took care of introducing new members to the weight-lifting course.



TITANS

Although doing very well in pre-season exhibition games, the Titans had a hot and cold season in league play, winding up in second place. In one of the finest games of the year, the Titans defeated Oak Bay for the right to play in the Howard Russell Cup. Although staying with a very powerful Mt. View team through most of the game, the Titans lost out in the dying minutes of the final played under the lights at Royal Athletic Park. The team was sponsored by Mr. Price and co-captains were Derek Reimer and John Philips.

TABLE TENNIS

With a membership of over 70, the Table Tennis Club has had a very interesting and exciting season. The club was sponsored by Mr. Chell, with the executive consisting of Paul Louie, president, Barry Lee, vice-president, and Lynn Slater, secretary-treasurer.

In the annual singles tournament, Sherman Koh and Lynn Slater emerged as champions of the boys' and girls' singles, respectively. In the doubles Brad Restall and Sherman Koh won the boys' doubles, while Susan Louie and Lynn Slater were the winning girls. Laverne Goldsmith and Brad Restall won the new mixed doubles competition.

BOWLING CLUB

The Bowling Club, sponsored by Mr. Linfield, again had a successful year with membership reaching approximately 50 people. In the Victoria Inter-High School Tournament, Vic High rolled in the winning total, a mere 77 pins ahead of a fine Esquimalt team. The hard-working executive included Gordie Tupper, president, Jack Milliken, vice-president, and Wendy Smith, secretary. After completion of league play the rep. team headed for Nanaimo, where they placed first in the Island Tournament. The final competition of the year took placed in Vancouver, where Vic High placed eighth in the Western Canadian Championship.

TOMAHAWKS

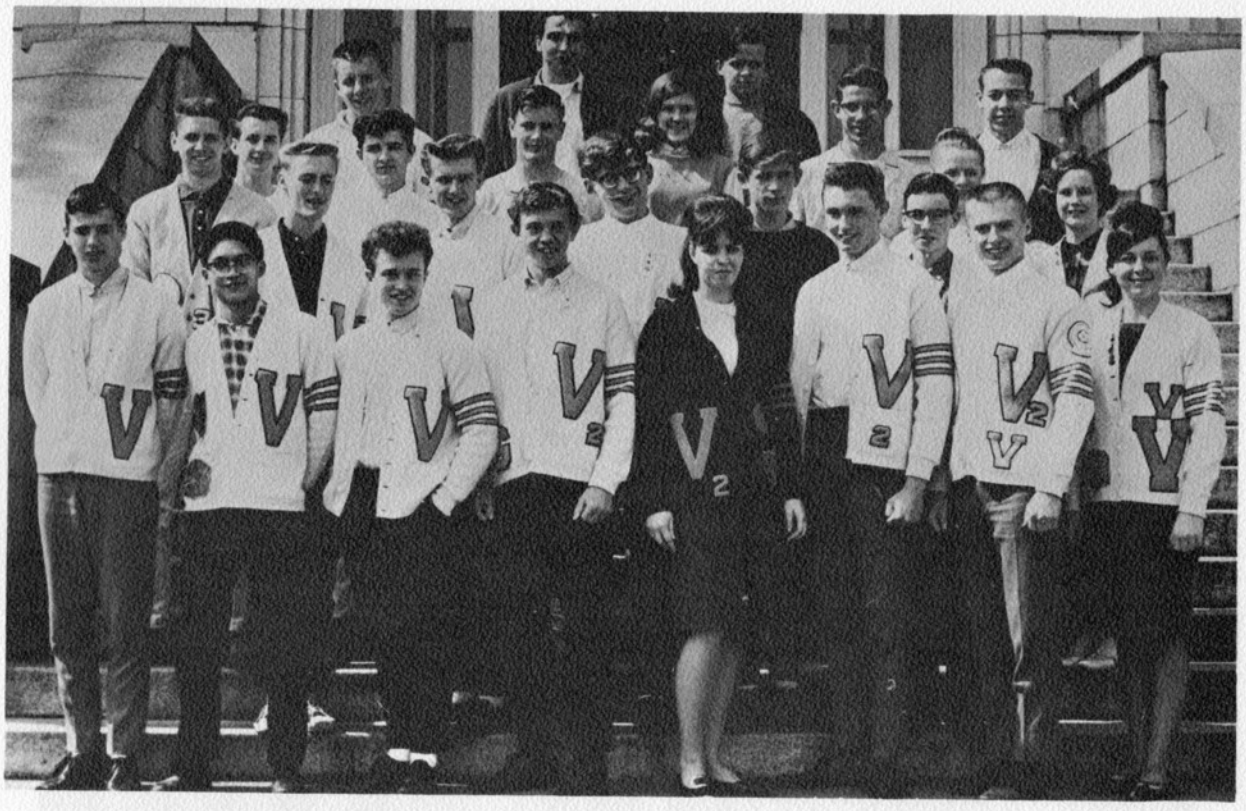
This year, under the expert coaching of Mrs. Hill, the Tomahawks topped the City Grasshockey League for the first time in many years. Mrs. Hill, herself a player for the Rep. Island Team, guided the Tomahawks to a 1-0 victory over Oak Bay, clinching the Maytully Trophy, indicative of Inter-High supremacy. The team entered the Bridgeman Tournament, playing well, but were beaten out in a closely fought second-round match, thus eliminating them from the top four teams who travelled to Vancouver for the provincial playdowns.

SENIOR B SOCCER TEAM

Competing in a regular Inter-High League for the first time this year. The Tyee seconds had a very successful season, winning the City B Championship. Mr. Wing's players did well in the regular schedule, beating Oak Bay, Mount View, and Claremont once each and tying Oak Bay, while losing to Mount View and Claremont in the final games of the season. The B's captured the City Championship by beating Oak Bay 2-1 in an exciting game played at Royal Athletic Park prior to the Colonist Cup Match.

SENIOR B RUGBY

Although ending the season with a heartbreaking defeat in the final, the Senior B Rugby Team had a very successful season, winning five of six games. Only North Saanich could break this record by tieing with B's 6-6. North Saanich also shattered the teams' hopes for a City Championship by beating the B's in the final. The team gained valuable experience and practice in several exhibition games throughout the year, even though not many of these games were won. Mr. Wing, the B's fine coach, contributed greatly to their success.



BLOCK V CLUB

This dignified and sober group of athletes and managers has had a very useful year. Under the powerful sponsorship of Mr. Price, members have worked hard seriously selling tickets to extramural games. Also, these grave members held a car-washing ceremony last fall, for the purpose of purchasing a projector for the athletic department. Oscar Waldal was the president, and Jeanne Renfrew, the secretary.

CROSS COUNTRY

With Mr. Hartley as coach, Vic High's cross country team has won few trophies, but have finished near the top in nearly every race this year. Particularly noticeable were Vic High's strong finishes of fourth in the Admiral Nelles Race and third in a giant field of runners for the T. Eaton Trophy. Outstanding individual performances were given by Vic High runners in the Canadian Legion Fall Road Races, and in several triangle meets with Esquimalt, Shawnigan Lake, Oak Bay, University School and Claremont.

TIGERS

Under the coaching of Mr. Lorimer, the Tigers proved their capabilities in advancing to the B.C. Championship Island Title, defeating rivals Oak Bay in the final at Courtenay. Aslo in the Island Tournament, Pat Barber was placed on the second All Star Team and Marg Maysmith was chosen the tourney's Most Valuable Player, as well as being placed on the first All Star Team.

In the B.C. Championships, the Tigers lost to Oak Bay in an exciting one-point thriller for the semi-finals of the consolation round.

GOLF CLUB

Operating on a shorter schedule this year, the Golf Club has had a small membership but a successful season. The club was treated to a talk by Cedar Hill pro Dick Munn earlier in the year and staged a very enjoyable staff versus student golf match at Colwood to wind up their season. In the annual Inter-High Tournament at George Vale, Vic High placed second among eight teams, losing by only two strokes to Oak Bay. This year's president was Al Glover, with Mr. Taylor sponsoring the group.

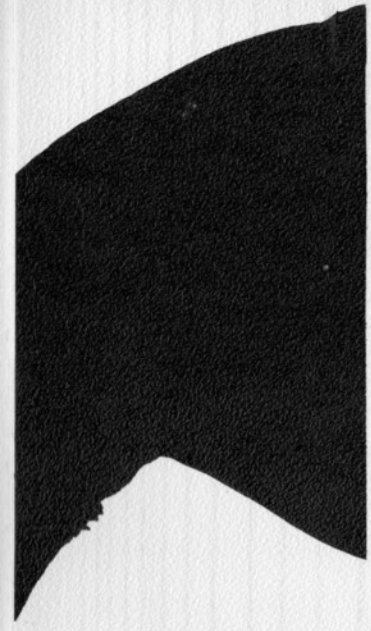
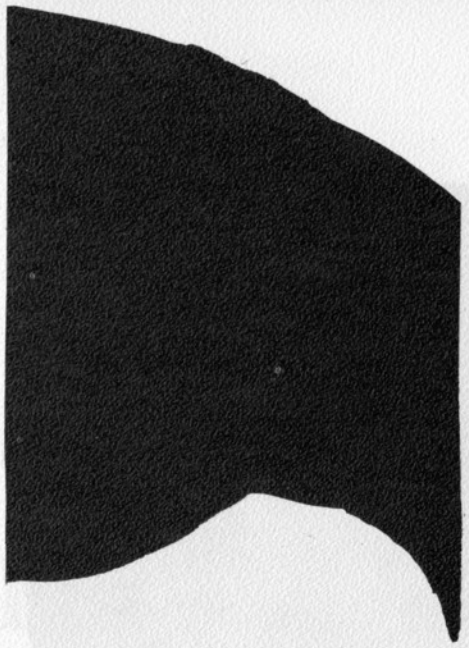
THE POET





When I Have Fears

"When I have fears that I may cease to be.
Before my pen has gleaned my teeming brain,
Before high-piled books, in charactery,
Hold like rich garners the full ripened grain;
When I behold, upon the night's starred face,
Huge cloudy symbols of a high romance,
And think that I may never live to trace
Their shadows, with the magic hand of chance;
And when I feel, fair creature of an hour,
That I shall never look upon thee more,
Never have relish in the fairy power
Of unreflecting love—then on the shore
Of the wide world I stand alone, and think
Till love and fame to nothingness do sink."

—John Keats.

The poet of these lines was being tortured. He was in the grip of an iron machine which was squeezing, squeezing every bloody word plummetting and spattering onto his page. The poet's entrails were ripped from his abdomen; his wails were twisted; and at the age of 26 he was finally crushed.

So it has been with all poets. With all painters, sculpters, musicians; with all artists. Art is torture.

Pain tightens a poet's face and sets his eyes blazing. It is pain that makes his hands clumsy and his hair unruly. Because of pain, he is misunderstood.

The non-poets (the philosophers, the critics, and the politicians) reluctantly accept him. They accept him as a natural oddity comparable to the Turkey Fish, or the night-blooming Cereus. Whenever the poet puts his big foot in his mouth, and hops conspicuously out of the room, the non-poets reluctantly excuse him.

He is misunderstood. The neighbours think he spends the weekday dabbling in Philosophy, and the weekends dabbling in hothouses, or puttering among marigolds. The neighbours are wrong.

The poet is neither a conjuror, nor a saint. He is not a bum, nor is he a god.

He is a man (women being incapable of successful poetry). He is a man in pain; a man suffering the birth-pangs of art.

Poetry cannot be taught nor learnt. Pain cannot be taught nor learnt. Poetry and pain can only be suffered: when the poet writes he does not think . . . he feels!

Poetry is not a two-year university course. The "liberal arts" only breed pedantry: Philosophy breeds smugness; English produces ignorant critics; History brings forth confusion and war.

Only science is the least bit compatible with art (only because art and science do not interfere with each other).

The poet is compelled to write, and write. Only death puts an end to this torture, this art. Keats knew this when he wrote the sonnet above. Marlowe knew this when he wrote:

"Terminat hora diem; terminat author opus."

Fear of peace; fear of the painless, inkless, after-life; fear of leaving the earth with imperfections, or incompleteness; these plague the poet; these compel and drive him.

But never do these fears defeat him.

—D. M. Summers.

LINES UNNAMED BECAUSE OF POET'S INABILITY TO DESCRIBE FEELING IN ONE OR TWO WORDS

Sea of sound, swirl of people,
Laughing, dancing; the shuffle of feet.
They pass as waves on the sea of my mind,
Their surge and fall the tide I beat.
Then stop, rest; the set is done now.
The tempest lulls as hands' voices chorus
Appreciation, anticipation. But we must wait,
Wait for the music—anxious moment,
Upon whose nearing hearts beat faster.
The last seconds are years. Trembling fingers
Making ready. I give the order,
We are released, out from the harbour
To sail again the rhythmic tide
On a vessel which I proudly guide.

—Harry D. Creech.

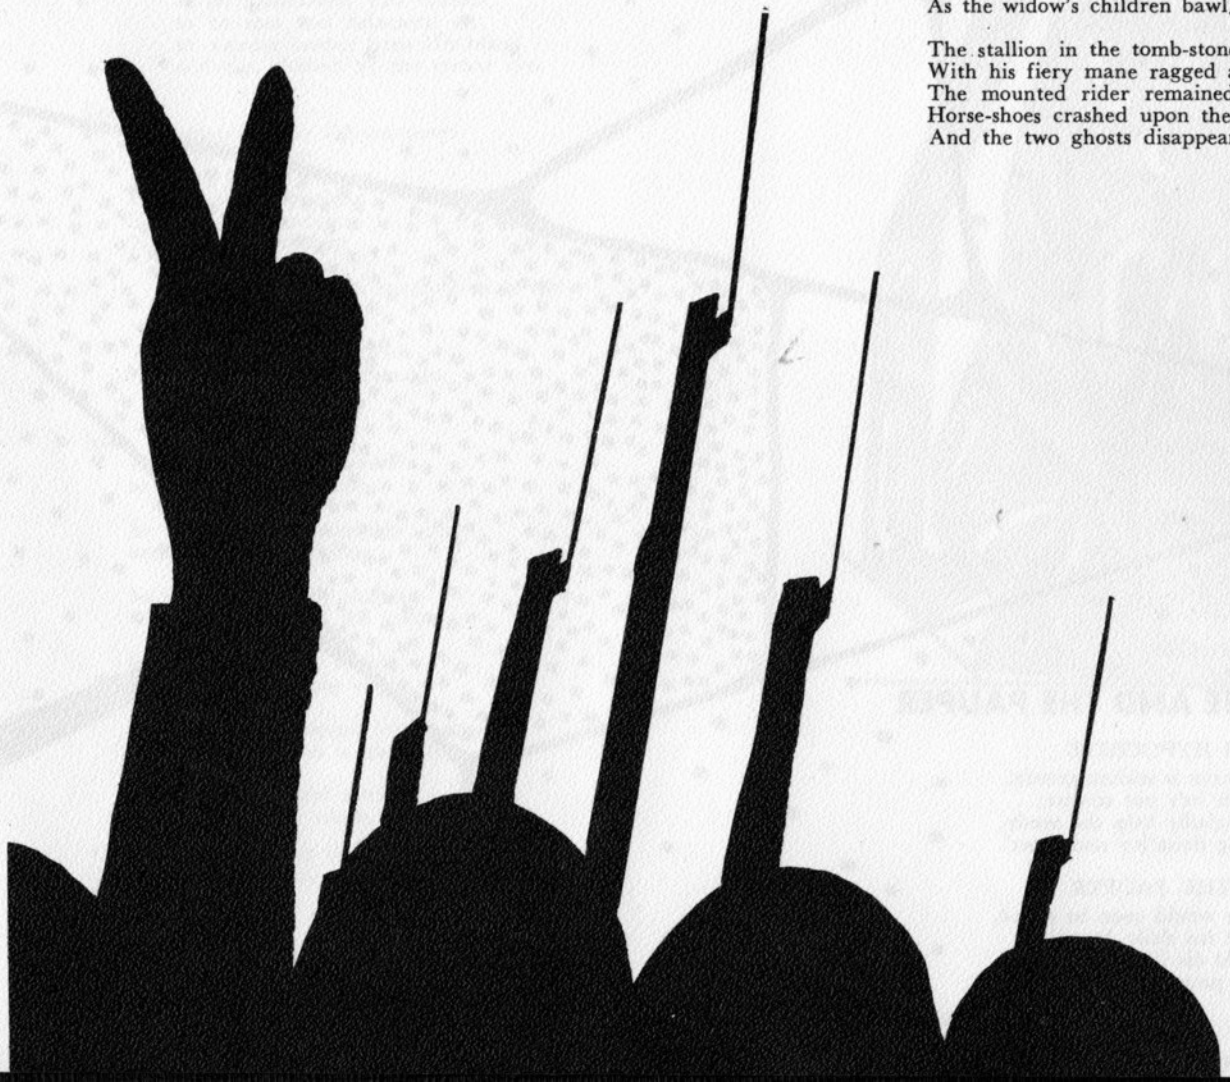
CHURCHILL DIED

Today the tombs are silent,
Feet are planted in the grass;
The drum rolls on the granite stones,
Flags grow big on the windy hill
And bright red stripes strain and bend.

Again the tombs are silent,
Though these tree-trunks groan
As the shrapnel rusts;
Though these stones pay inattention
As the widow's children bawl.

The stallion in the tomb-stones reared;
With his fiery mane ragged and fierce;
The mounted rider remained erect and stern.
Horse-shoes crashed upon the grave-stones
And the two ghosts disappeared.

—Dave M. Summers.



"BIRTH, AND COPULATION, AND DEATH"

Birth and copulation and death;
Birth and death are the extremes,
But who counts the breath
Of new life as the end and means
For all life's aims?

Couldn't men be born
To leave their lust behind;
To have some other aim
Than procreation of the kind?

And, having found their mark,
Then all shall find their death,

To let God find some new amusement
To replace the fallen son:
Perhaps, He has one,
Waiting . . .

—John Phillips.

THE HYPOCRITE AND THE PAUPER

I. THE HYPOCRITE

A rich hypocrite is seldom greedy,
Although he's not sincere;
And he would gladly help the needy,
To bring them 'joy and cheer'.

II. THE PAUPER

His little life would soon be ended,
Without his daily bread;
And he would die if he depended
On the poor sincere instead.

—John Phillips.

ALLEY CAT

He strutted through town like a king,
Hard,
Lean,
Mean as a bull whip,
Free as a fresh wind on the open plains,
Independent.

He was born in an alley
And, as a kitten,
Grew to hate men who kicked him into the gutter to starve.
But he had a fighting spirit and he grew
Sharp as a spark from a flint,
And wary.

He was a loner.
Trained by an instinct older than time,
He shunned all companions
And roamed and fought
Alone,
And happy.

For he was free!
Free to take food and shelter as it came.
Free to grow,
Wise and strong.
Free to love!

—Brian R. Jaundrew.

THE ARTIST'S DILEMMA

The artist spoils his art
As the Creator perfects His Creation—to be mishandled and broken, to be spat and defacated on;
to wander farther from His token
and die, choked by the tyrant ego.

Lost:
The symphony by the composer
Poem by the poet
Painting by the painter
Play by the playwright
Statue by the sculptor
Novel by the author:

he creates with an imagination of spit
he likes to speculate,
to know 'Fate',
to hover over the Pit
and blaspheme a Paradiso, to know . . .

Lost:
He juggles the ovals tone'
to mix a sensuous moan,

he pig-eats earth's muddy slime
and vomits up a rhyme,

he slops the bloody shapes
like the grinding of the grapes,

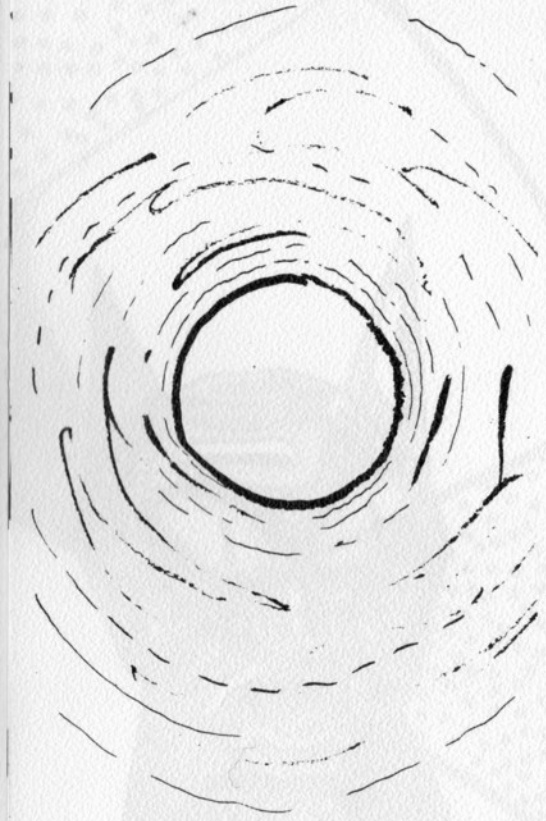
he forces the actor to dig,
person to person, pig to pig,

he smooths the jagged jutting beauty
because destruction is his duty,

he pens in a putrid ditch
to glamorize the witch.

Only when his object forsakes the earth
Can the artist and his art experience rebirth,
To be found . . .

—John Phillips.



SILVER GOLD

The moon overhead in spectacular array
Has lifted all doubts of the scourge beneath,
And joy divine in pouring to lay
In solitude at last to make one bequeath.

There in the sky where starlight is tinder,
The clouds drifted o'er lest they will hinder
Rays of the moon shining bright through the maze
To the shady horizon and low lying haze.

The little boat stopped and pulled in the net,
The water was calm; there was time for a set.
Full ahead she chugged when the line was placed,
And out fled the seine, tight and well laced.

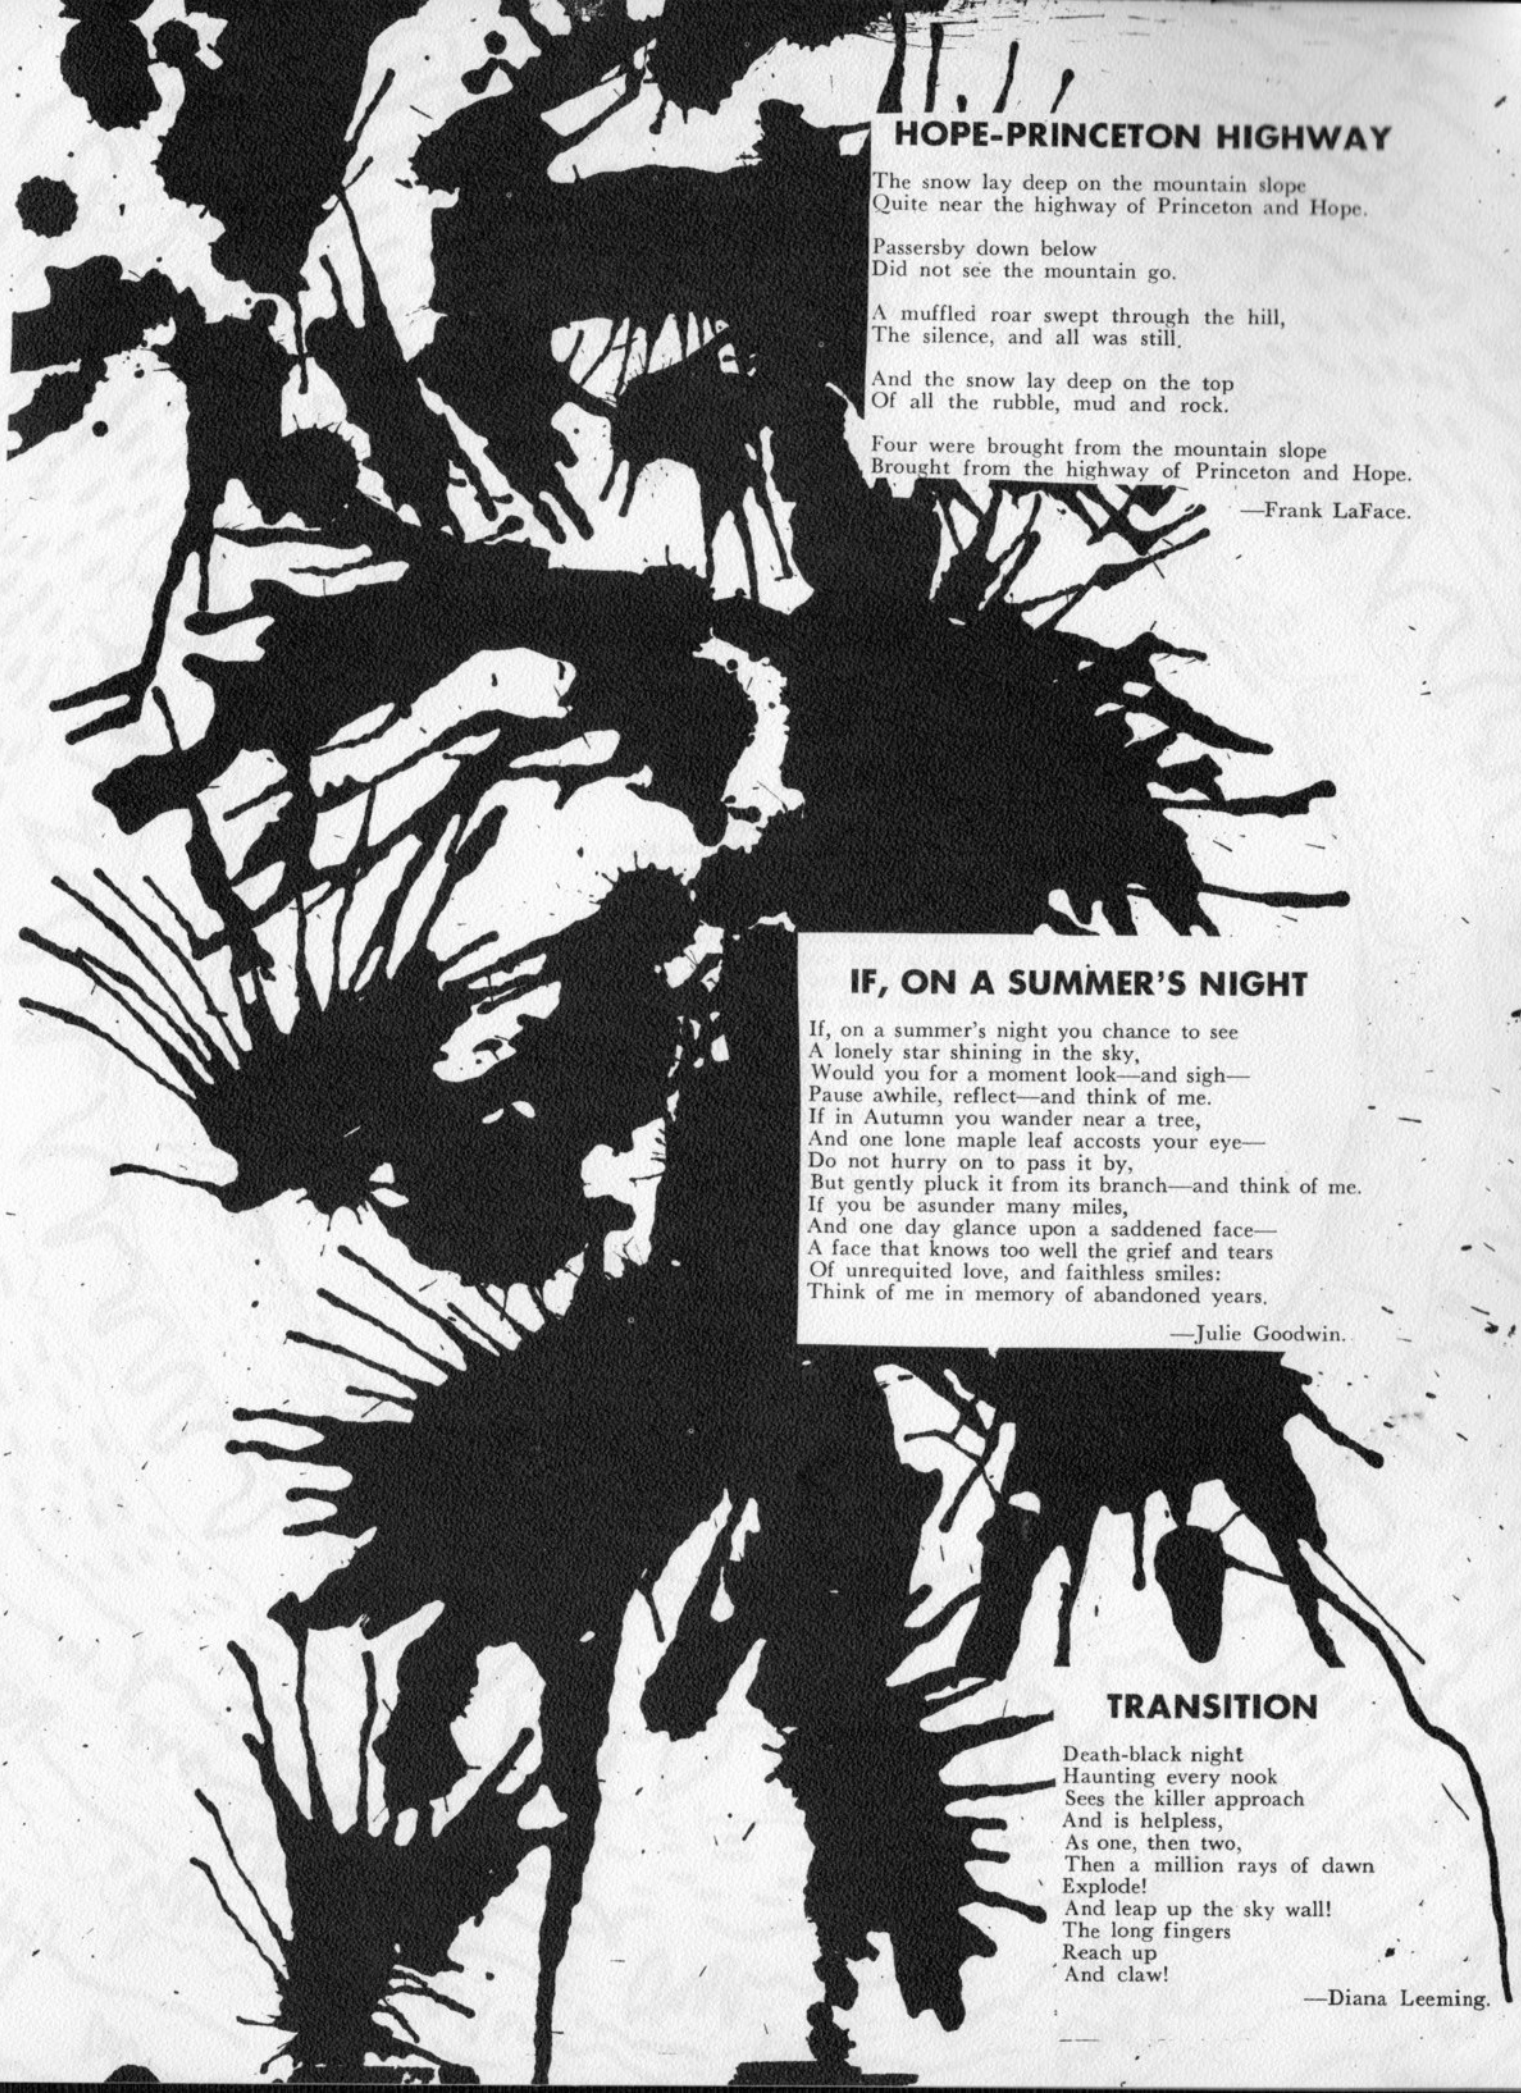
Around the school and into the shore
The skiffman's arms grew tired and sore,
Onto the tree the shoreline was tied;
Down dove the fish to strain and to hide.

Then it was over, the battle was lost,
The skipper grinned and thought it would cost
The next packing boat a whale of a prize
When in the hatch she sees what lies.

The first trip was bad and morale hung low,
The second was worse as the run grew slow;
The skipper thought it was over now,
But then—what a haul below.

The moon overhead in spectacular array
Has lifted all doubts from the scourge beneath,
And joy divine is pouring to lay
In solitude at last to make one bequeath.

—Larry Bowman.



HOPE-PRINCETON HIGHWAY

The snow lay deep on the mountain slope
Quite near the highway of Princeton and Hope.

Passersby down below
Did not see the mountain go.

A muffled roar swept through the hill,
The silence, and all was still.

And the snow lay deep on the top
Of all the rubble, mud and rock.

Four were brought from the mountain slope
Brought from the highway of Princeton and Hope.

—Frank LaFace.

IF, ON A SUMMER'S NIGHT

If, on a summer's night you chance to see
A lonely star shining in the sky,
Would you for a moment look—and sigh—
Pause awhile, reflect—and think of me.
If in Autumn you wander near a tree,
And one lone maple leaf accosts your eye—
Do not hurry on to pass it by,
But gently pluck it from its branch—and think of me.
If you be asunder many miles,
And one day glance upon a saddened face—
A face that knows too well the grief and tears
Of unrequited love, and faithless smiles:
Think of me in memory of abandoned years.

—Julie Goodwin.

TRANSITION

Death-black night
Haunting every nook
Sees the killer approach
And is helpless,
As one, then two,
Then a million rays of dawn
Explode!
And leap up the sky wall!
The long fingers
Reach up
And claw!

—Diana Leeming.

SPIRE

Aurora rains descend to silence,
Grey clouds scudding the sky and grey,
Flushing meadows run deep in green,
With slow winds, rippling shy.

The mist that sheathes the distant hills
Is swept in kind with time,
The distant lakesides' glass-swept swells
Break indigo with eventide.

Splitting colours pierce the forest,
Stark and undulating and starred,
Black upon green upon black;
Far and here melting into one.

And mists of sky light rains ascend
Like coral purple bars in fire,
And red suns blind the earth,
And drive the mind to god.

—Charles Barber.
